About BNHS: Bombay Natural History Society (BNHS) is the oldest and the largest environmental research and conservation organization, also involved in public awareness. At present BNHS projects are spread across the entire country studying and conserving species and habitats such as vultures, Great Indian Bustard, Asian Elephant, Royal Bengal Tiger, migratory birds, corals, Giant Clam, reptiles, grasslands, mangroves and wetlands. BNHS regularly conducts nature camps, nature trails, workshops and training sessions. BNHS has a well-stocked library with over 22,000 books and a natural history collection with over 1,20,000 specimens. BNHS books, other publications and souvenir products are immensely popular among nature lovers and the general public.
